

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO BAR FROM TRADE CHILD LABOR GOODS

Measure Opposed By Small Number of Members From Southern Mill States.

IS NOW BEFORE THE SENATE

Amendment Exempts Unincorporated Canning Clubs Formed By Boys and Girls.

The Keating child labor bill, barring from interstate commerce the products of child labor, went over to the Senate today. The House passed the measure last night, despite the fight waged by a small number of members from the Southern cotton-mill States. During the debate Fitzgerald, of New York, and Webb, of North Carolina, had a lively verbal clash over working conditions in their States.

Mr. Webb suggested that Mr. Fitzgerald, who supported the bill, should look after the welfare of the child in New York before invading the fields of the "well-conducted cotton mills of the country." Whereupon Mr. Fitzgerald retorted that if Congress were forced to take up a bill to eliminate child labor abuses in his State, he, Fitzgerald, would quit Congress in shame forthwith. Mr. Fitzgerald denounced conditions in North Carolina as "vicious."

Passed By 337 To 46.

"I have a boy of fourteen years and another of twelve," continued Mr. Fitzgerald. "God forbid any legislation that would permit them to go into the quarry or the factory and support their mother. If their natural support were taken away, but the child under fourteen years of age in a mill for more than eight hours a day, and what chance has he? He is doomed to a life of disease, and of crime in most instances."

"If, perchance, some one of these children breaks through the barriers surrounding him and climbs up the ladder of life, it should not be held up to make other children emulate his example of this man, but rather we should consider the great majority who fall and sink to a lower plane before their lives are ended."

The Keating bill passed by a vote of 337 to 46. A similar measure passed the House last session, but was not reached in the Senate.

Provisions of the Bill.

The bill makes it unlawful for any producer or dealer to ship in interstate commerce mine or quarry products made by children under sixteen years of age; manufactured products by children under fourteen, or by children under sixteen employed more than eight hours a day, or by children under sixteen employed at night.

Responsibility for obedience to the law is put upon the shipper rather than the common carrier. The House Committee on Labor reported that the bill would be more effective if the shippers were held accountable for the shipment of child-made goods. The Department of Labor, in conjunction with state and Federal courts, is given authority to enforce the law, and the Attorney General, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor are constituted a board to draft regulations to put the law into effect.

The House adopted an amendment exempting from the provisions of the bill unincorporated canning clubs formed by boys and girls.

AUTOMOBILE WRECKED IN COLLISION

Automobile of Henry F. Marsden, wrecked in a collision at Fourteenth and T streets northwest this morning, in which Congressman Isaac Bacharach of New Jersey was stunned.

AUTOS IN CRASH; LEGISLATOR HURT

Congressman Bacharach of New Jersey Stunned—Driver Is Arrested.

Two automobiles were wrecked in a crash at Fourteenth and T streets northwest, in which Congressman Isaac Bacharach of New Jersey and several other persons narrowly escaped serious injury early this morning. It was one of a half dozen or more automobile accidents caused by slippery streets.

The machine in which Mr. Bacharach was riding was being operated by its owner, Henry F. Marsden, of 1902 G street northwest, at the time of the accident. The New Jersey Congressman and Mr. Marsden were going north in Fourteenth street en route to the Falkstone Courts, where Mr. Bacharach lives.

Unable To Stop Car.

The Marsden machine had reached a point near the north curbing of T street when the crash with the other machine, operated by Edward Slade, colored, of 46 M street northwest, came. According to Marsden, Slade seemed unable to stop his machine when he saw the other car as he crossed Fourteenth street going east in T. The collision occurred at the northeast corner of the intersection, one machine driving the other into a lamp post, which snapped off like a match stem.

Mr. Bacharach was stunned by the impact and cut by the flying glass. He was removed to the office of Dr. E. L. Mason in the Porter apartments, where he received treatment for his wounds and then went to his home. The Marsden machine is the more damaged of the two cars. The car operated by Slade belonged to his brother. The steering gear was broken, the fenders practically demolished on one side, and one of the axles was badly bent.

Slade was arrested after the accident on charges of colliding and driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition. He will be arraigned in the Police Court today.

Several Other Accidents.

An automobile belonging to J. L. Rover, of North Capitol and H streets, was slightly damaged when it struck a machine operated by Frank Harman, of 150 Seaton place northwest, at Seventh and I streets northwest last night. The accident was caused, the police say, by the Harman machine skidding.

Miss Ruth McDonald, of Rosslyn, Va., reported to the police that her machine was struck by another automobile while it was standing in front of 4062 Ninth street northwest last night and slightly damaged. Miss McDonald could not obtain the number of the car.

E. H. Dashback, twenty-three, of 1504 S street northwest, was slightly injured when an automobile in which he was riding with John H. Burrows, of 209 R street northwest, collided with a machine operated by George E. Rowe, of the Dupont garage, at Eighteenth and S streets northwest last night. Dashback was treated at the Emergency Hospital and went to his home.

An automobile truck belonging to Fred A. Dodge, 324 Fourteenth street northwest, and operated by Richard H. Taylor, of 268 Vermont avenue northwest, collided with another automobile truck owned and operated by Edwin S. Rucker, 20 H street northwest, at Vermont avenue and I street early today. Both trucks were slightly damaged, but the operators escaped injury.

Asks Quiet. Gets K-9.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—When Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, New York suffragist, asked at the Congress Hotel for "a nice quiet room," they gave her K-9.

VILLA WINS BATTLE IN TAMPICO OIL ZONE

A victory by the Villista forces, the first of any importance since the recognition by the United States of the Carranza de facto government, was reported to the State Department today.

Villista troops, a dispatch from Tampico said, defeated the Carranzistas at Chaparral, in the Tampico oil fields, inflicting a loss of forty killed and capturing a large store of ammunition. No further details were given.

The department was advised a few days ago the Villa forces were evacuating the oil fields of Tampico, in the oil fields, looting villages as they left. These advances said the Carranza forces had control of the situation.

Today's advance indicates that the Villa troops have been reinforced, and there are evidences that the revolutionists are preparing to make a last stand in the oil district, in which British interests have large holdings.

RETURN OF WINTER IS SEVERE ON POOR

Central Union Mission Overcrowded, and Sounds Appeal For Financial Assistance.

The sudden return of winter, bringing in the wake of the balmy, springlike weather of last week, stinging sleet, sharp winds and snow flurries, has sent to the charitable institutions of Washington the largest number of individuals that have made application for relief this winter.

Last night more than 300 men were given lodging at the Central Union Mission. Of this number sixty were without funds. The number of applicants was so great that not only were the two large dormitories of the mission crowded to capacity, but smaller rooms, seldom used for sleeping quarters, were filled. When the bread line formed this morning it was, according to Superintendent Bennett, half as large again as on any morning this winter.

The men who applied last night for relief were not, in the majority of instances, the usual type of habitués of charitable institutions. The majority of the applicants, Mr. Bennett said, ranged from eighteen to twenty-three years.

At the mission today shoes were the articles of wearing apparel in most demand. Many of the men who sought aid were practically barefooted, and Mr. Bennett and his assistants had only a limited number of pairs of low shoes for distribution.

Mr. Bennett has sent out a letter of appeal, setting forth the following list of opportunities: $1 will give immediate relief to a family of four; $2 will feed 100 men; $5 will feed and lodge twenty-five men; $10 will feed and lodge fifty men; $15 will buy ten tons of coal; $25 will supply twenty-five poverty-stricken families with food; $50 will feed and lodge twenty-five men for ten days; and $100 will pay the running expenses of the mission for one week.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky, and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.
